BRYANT, BRYAN

James Bryant Sr. first lived in Isle of Wight County, Virginia. He might have sprung from the Bryants of New England, for many families came from that section to settle in southeastern Virginia or northeastern North Carolina. On February 4, 1717, James Bryant "of Albemarle" deeded certain lands in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, proving that he had already moved to North Carolina (Isle of Wight Great Book, p. 233). On April 6, 1718, he witnessed the will of Charles Merritt in Chowan County (Grimes, "Abstract of N. C. Wills"). In August, 1720, he patented 100 acres on Bear Swamp (N. C. Colonial Records, II, p. 522). The will of James Bryant Sr. was made in Bertie County, North Carolina, on March 11, 1731 (Grimes), and mentioned 1. William Bryant, son. 2. James Bryant Jr., son. 3. Thomas Bryant, son. 4. John Dew (Jr.), son-in-law, and executor. He married Elizabeth Bryant, and for their descendants see White's "History and Genealogy of the Dew Family." 5. Sarah Bryant married John Drake, according to the will of the latter made in Bertie County on January 5, 1728 (Grimes). 6. Mary Bryant married Richard Sumner, whose will was made in Bertie County on April 12, 1729 (Grimes). William Bryan of Isle of Wight County, Virginia, may have been a brother of James Bryant above. He was in Isle of Wight County as early as 1688. He left 1. John Bryan of Bertie and Edgecombe Counties, North Carolina. 2. Needham Bryan Sr. of Bertie County, North Carolina. William Bryant, son of James Bryant Sr., lived most of his life in Bertie County, North Carolina. On March 31, 1726, he made a petition concerning some livestock (N. C. Colonial Records, II, p. 606). On September 27, 1736, he was on a commission of public claims (idem, IV, 233). His first wife was a Bridger, for on March 11, 1729, he was called brother-in-law, executor, and witness in the will of William Bridger in Bertie County (Grimes). His own will was made in Edgecombe County, North Carolina, on September 21, 1749, and probated in February Court, following (Grimes), leaving 1. Joseph Bryant, son. 2. William Bryant Jr., son. 3. Patience Bryant, daughter. 4. Sarah Myhand, daughter. 5. ----- McDaniel, daughter. 6. Patience Bryant, wife. She was the daughter of John Dew, Esquire, of Bertie County. James Bryant Jr. on September 14, 1734, was executor of the will of Robert Braswell in Bertie County, probated in November Court, 1736, and Patience Bryant and Thomas Bryant were witnesses (Grimes). On February 25, 1740, he was a jurymen for Bertie and Edgecombe Counties (N. C. Colonial Records, IV, p. 521). On September 30, 1751, he witnessed the will of William Bridger in Johnston County (Grimes). Thomas Bryant, son of James Bryant Sr., was on a grandjury at Edenton on July 27, 1725 (N. C. Colonial Records, II, p. 591). He was a juror again on July 28, 1727 (idem, II, p. 704). He was executor and witness of the will of John Cotton Sr. probated in May Court, 1728, in Bertie County

(Grimes). On January 18, 1732, he witnessed the will of John Bass in Bertie County (idem). On January 22, 1732, he was appointed Commissioner of Indian trading in the Province of North Carolina (Colonial Records, III, p. 414). In a Court of July 13, 1733, he bound out several free negroes until they should be of age (idem, III, p. 556). On February 17, 1738, he received a grant of 400 acres in Edgecombe County (idem, IV, p. 329). He was a Member of the North Carolina Assembly (Idem, IV, pp. 414, 493, 495, 499, 559, 384, 391, 526, 529). Thomas Bryant, "Burgess of Bertie," was dead by April 13, 1749 (idem, IV, p. 1171).
